Time To Panic?

eResearch Corporation is pleased to provide an article from Zacks Investment Research, featuring Steve Reitmeister, Executive Vice-President.

In this article, Steve Reitmeister reinforces his belief that we remain in a bull market, and until the next recession rears its ugly head. In the meantime, there will be ebbs and flows in stock prices. Stand firm!

Also included are Steve Reitmeister’s “Featured Commentaries”.

Zacks Investment Research is a provider of earnings data and other financial data to institutions and to individuals.

As a leading investment research firm, Zacks Investment Research focuses on stock research, analysis, and recommendations.

Founded in 1977, Zacks Investment Research is dedicated to providing professional investors with the financial data and analysis needed to make better speculative decisions for themselves and their clients.

Zacks Investment Research is used by thousands of analysts at well over 200 brokerages to give clients reliable investment information. Zacks has also expanded its online presence and has begun offering more products designed for individual investors.

You can learn about Zacks Investment Research at its website: http://www.zacks.com/eResearch was established in 2000 as Canada's first equity issuer-sponsored research organization. Our various research packages allow corporate management to choose the form of research coverage that best meets their company’s needs. Investors benefit by having written research on a variety of under-covered companies.

Bob Weir, CFA
Director of Research

Note: All of the comments, views, opinions, suggestions, recommendations, etc., contained in this Article, and which is distributed by eResearch Corporation, are strictly those of the Author and do not necessarily reflect those of eResearch Corporation.
Time To Panic?

by Steve Reitmeister, Executive Vice-President, Zacks Investment Research

December 11, 2014

Why are stocks going down? Because they can. (End of statement)

This is to say that the bull market is still firmly in place. Just every now and then investors want to take profits. And that action comes in surging waves as folks do not want to be the last one out the door.

The key is to never have the fear that emanates from short-term selling sprees that blind you from the real fundamentals that will drive stocks in the future. As should be clear from the strong economic data in the USA, going higher is the only logical conclusion for stocks until the next recession wakes the bear from his hibernation.

Read: Buy the Dip!

Are You Prepared for 2015?

With the calendar ready to flip over to another new year, it is the perfect time for reflection.

• What did I do right this year? And let's keep doing that!

• What did I do wrong? And let's change for the better!

Our Director of Research, Sheraz Mian, is one of the world's best at doing this annual ritual. Once done, then he looks at the unique investing landscape for the year ahead. Followed by a proprietary 6 step process for selecting the best stocks for the long haul.

This all culminates in his coveted list of the Top 10 Stocks for the year ahead. And the new list of Top 10 stocks comes out soon. So do not hesitate.
Reserve Your Access to the Zacks Top 10 List Now

Best,

Steve Reitmeister (aka Reity...pronounced "Righty")
Executive Vice President
Zacks Investment Research

Steve's Featured Commentaries on Zacks.com

3 Staffing Stocks on Strong Holiday Hiring
Biotech Stock Roundup
Janus & the Bill Gross Effect
Crude at 5-Year Lows: Oil & Gas Outlook

About Steve Reitmeister

Steve Reitmeister joined Zacks Investment Research in 1999 to become the Managing Editor of the Zacks Elite newsletter. Ten years later, the Hulbert Digest noted the Zacks Elite had the best 10-year stock picking performance 12-1999 to 11-2009 of any newsletter they followed. Since then, he has worn many hats for the firm including his current position as Executive VP in charge of Zacks.com and its subscription services for individual investors.

His main focus is educating people on how to invest more successfully. This is primarily done through the 2 portfolios he currently runs for Zacks customers: Reitmeister Trading Alert and Zacks Confidential. Plus, you will find regular commentary from him on leading investment websites like Zacks.com, Yahoo Finance, SeekingAlpha, CNNMoney, and MarketWatch.

Steve has an MBA from DePaul University and B.A. in Economics from University of Wisconsin.

To contact us by mail:
Zacks Investment Research, Inc.
10 S. Riverside Plaza, Suite 1600
Chicago, IL 60606
Disclosure

This free resource is being sent by Zacks.com to our subscribers. We look for investment resources and inform you of these resources, which you may choose to use in making your own investment decisions. Zacks is providing information on this resource to you subject to the Zacks “Terms and Conditions of Service” disclaimer. www.zacks.com/disclaimer

Past performance is no guarantee of future results. Inherent in any investment is the potential for loss. This material is being provided for informational purposes only and nothing herein constitutes investment, legal, accounting or tax advice, or a recommendation to buy, sell or hold a security. No recommendation or advice is being given as to whether any investment is suitable for a particular investor. It should not be assumed that any investments in securities, companies, sectors or markets identified and described were or will be profitable.

All information is current as of the date of herein and is subject to change without notice.

Any views or opinions expressed may not reflect those of the firm as a whole. Zacks Investment Research does not engage in investment banking, brokerage, market making or asset management activities of any securities. Visit www.zacks.com/performance for information about the performance numbers displayed in this press release.